SCHOOL SONG

1. To Webber School we ever will be true!
   May every heart to the Maroon and Gold be ever faithful;
   Long live her fame!
   Tho' in years we part forever,
   Let us to Webber School be always true!

2. Then while our hearts for thee beat fond and true,
   Thro' life we'll go with mem'ries clear of the golden days,
   While praises we'll sing
   Which will echo thro' the ages:
   Then for dear Webber make the echoes ring!

THE NATIONAL JUNIOR HONOR SOCIETY

Last spring Webber School joined the National Junior Honor Society. Our chapter was named in memory of a former member of the Webber faculty who lost his life in World War II, Raymond Kilrain.

Students who have completed four semesters of B average work in scholarship and citizenship, are eligible for membership in the National Junior Honor Society and receive a gold pin.

On March 12, an assembly was held when the gold pins were awarded to the 9A honor students who had attained a B average in scholarship and citizenship for at least four semesters. Mr. Chester F. Miller, Superintendent of Saginaw Public Schools, was the guest speaker. The following students received pins:

1st row: Joann Bingeman, Gloria Fischer, Delores Brown, Harold Brown, Kay Lutenske, Don Dengler, Carmelita Dew, Waldemar Dulski, Bonnie Esler.

Second row: Norman Fjerstad, Patsy Bester, Pat Bhirdo, Delores Giltrop, Clara Hoffman, Marilyn Irish, Jean Kent, Vivienne Braley, Joe McGrandy, Marion Williams, Carol Fischer, Kathleen McCully.

Third row: Frances Maziarz, Virginia Osborn, Margaret Piotrowski, Prudie Plambeck, Lila Pyke, Coletta Slater, Ray Sundeck, Lorraine Tardiff, Coreen Van Norman, Donna Van Wormer, Jim Vervoort, Jane Woodington.

Students who have completed two semesters of B average work in scholarship and citizenship, are eligible for provisional membership in the National Junior Honor Society. Provisional members receive a silver pin.

HIGH LIGHTS OF THE YEAR

MUSIC AND DRAMA

BAND

The advanced band, under the direction of Mr. Carlson has had several occasions to entertain, not only the students of Webber School, but others outside that circle. The band made its initial appearance last fall, playing for the Open House program. Webber P.T.A. Association later sponsored a Variety Show in which the band played an active part. The climax of the year for our band was the annual Band Boost which has become a tradition at Webber, and which took place on February 26-27.

Radio station WSAM presented a series of broadcasts in which each Saginaw school took part. The band supplied the music for the Webber Junior High broadcast on December 4.

In a series of exchange programs among the four junior high schools, the band's next public appearance was at Central Junior High School on April 27.

The band also furnished the music for the 9A play on May 6.

Finally, the band's last contribution to the musical picture was its part in the annual spring concert on May 21.

ORCHESTRA

Webber's advanced orchestra, directed by Mr. Carlson, made several public appearances this year including the Christmas Assembly, the Honor Assembly, a request appearance at the Washington School and the spring concert, May 21.

CHOIR (Mixed)

The Webber Choir has added much enjoyment to many programs this year including an appearance at the Washington School for their fall Open House, and also Webber's own Open House; a very enjoyable number in the Band Boost program; a choral rendition of the Gettysburg Address for the Webber Junior High broadcast; an appearance on the March P.T.A. program; the annual spring concert.

CHOIR (Girls)

Another musical group which has added much to the year's musical entertainment is the Girls' Choir. They participated in a number of enjoyable programs including the Christmas Cantata, presented four times: for the Junior High students, the Elementary students, the P.T.A. and at the Home for the Aged; Irish songs for the St. Patrick's Day Assembly; P.T.A. program.

DRAMATICS

Two drama classes were formed this year under the direction of Mrs. DeFere. Special programs in which the drama students took part were: a Hallowe'en play, "The Mystery of the Hidden Suitcase"; "Thou Shalt Not Read", a play presented for the observance of Book Week and the WSAM broadcast; "The Christ Child", a Christmas pageant presented in cooperation with the Webber Choir; the annual 9A play, an original script entitled "School Day Memories."

In addition to these special programs, the drama students furnished announcers for assemblies. In their classes they carried out such activities as the reading of poetry, monologues, dialogues, characterizations, original skits, plays and original poems.

ASSEMBLIES

This year we have had many interesting and talented assemblies.

In September we were entertained by the four singing vagabonds, "The Roamers", who travel from Coast to Coast, from Mexico to Canada, singing Mid-American music of the Mississippi Basin, folk songs of the Deep South, songs from "Porgy and Bess", etc.

In October we had another assembly by Mr. Robert Edgar, presenting the "CYCLOPS OF PALOMAR", a unique, non-technical lecture-demonstration of the wonder of the world, the great two-hundred inch telescope on Mount Palomar, California. This was the story of man's greatest scientific achievement and was illustrated with miniature models of the telescope and mirror, and by the "ANIMATED CHART'.

In February Norman Coates Webster presented us with one of the best assemblies of the year, called "SO YOU DON'T LIKE POETRY". Mr. Webster is a natural-born story teller and his program carried the perfect balance between the serious and the humorous.

General Motors brought us a wonderful assembly, the "Century of Progress", showing the development and progress of General Motors and the many fields still open to people interested in science. The demonstration included miniature airplanes run by jet-propulsion, uses of Radar, the progress of Light, and many more things of great interest and importance. This program was greatly enjoyed by everyone.

This year we have had several exchange assemblies with South Intermediate School, Central Junior High School, and Saginaw High.

In April, South School brought us many amusing and entertaining acts from their school circus. Some of the acts included acrobatics, songs from the Bowery, the Rag-Doll Dance, etc. Central's program was presented by their Band playing music from their Spring Concert. These programs were greatly enjoyed by everyone as they were unlike others we have had. The program presented by Saginaw High also was musical. The band gave us thirty-five minutes of classical and popular music.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Social life at Webber is something to which all students look forward. Needless to say no one was disappointed, for social life began enthusiastically with the Hallowe'en party. There were witches and goblins all over the gym. The Hi-Y did a very good job of selling refreshments at the snack bar. The program was well planned and the many games played brought enjoyment to all.

The noon dances, given every Thursday, proved that boys can dance as well as girls. Miss Kaufmann was very successful in getting many boys to dance who just seemed to stand around all the time. Maybe some day there will be no girl without a boy partner if these dances continue so successfully.

The most "heart-warming" party of the year was the Valentine's Day party. Romantic students of Webber danced to sweet mellow music. The entertainment committee planned a fine program. Among the entertainers were Pat Bhirdo, Delores Brown, Don Crampton and Prudie Plambeck.

The final event of the year on the social calendar was the annual 9A banquet and party, an evening affair held June 8.

CLASS PROPHECY

It is the year 1958. Let us span the years for a few moments to accompany two former Webber girls, Marion Williams and Donna Van Wormer through a particularly busy day. First we meet them . . . .

Irish's Beauty Parlor:

"Good afternoon, Ladies and Gentlemen. This is Vivienne Braley, your Saturday news commentator reporting from the WKNX studio in the heart of Saginaw. We find June 11, 1958 a favorable day, especially for the Webber Junior High class of '48 that is gathering this evening for its first class reunion. And now for a bit of the latest gossip . . . . "R-r-ring

"Please turn down the radio and answer the phone, Miss Findlay," called Donna Cittel.

"Marilyn Irish's Beauty Parlor. Who? Oh yes, Mr. Fjerstad, you say you would like an appointment for two-thirty? I'm sorry, but Donna Ott is all booked up for this afternoon. A few housewives have been booked for this afternoon — Lois Wells, Ernestine Thompson and Betty Holstrom have called first. Monday? That will be fine. Goodbye." . . . . Slam! Bang! Good afternoon Miss Williams and Miss Van Wormer. You are right on time."

"Well if it isn't Pat Patterson and Bonnie Esler."

"Hi there, Prudie, I see you're trying Marilyn's Miracle Mudpack."

"Yes, say look, here's Jo Anne Bingeman's picture in the paper announcing her engagement."

"Lorraine French was telling me that the wedding bells will be ringing soon for her also."

"I hear sirens! You might know! There goes Joe Verlac in his fire engine, with Jean Orth and Don Prueter speeding after it in their new squad car. They sure pick up enough business for attorney Lila Pyke and mortician Nancy Maturen, the friendly undertaker."

"Well, I'll have to be running along now out to Joe McGrandy's farm for some fresh eggs. He told me that Jack Fischer and Duane Darling have farms out that way too."

"You don't say. Goodbye for now, Bonnie, we'll see you tonight at the reunion."

"Hi, Bonnie! I see you got a new hair-do for the big event tonight!"

"Well if it isn't Ardis and Phyllis Boese. What's the hurry?"

"Oh, we've got to hurry to get back to the office. Alvin Williams, our boss, won't like it if we're late."

"I hear that he has a large business, and quite a few secretaries."

"Yes, we work in the same office with Esther Reisig, Donna Reppuhn, Barbara Scully and Nancy Remer."

"Did you hear that Jane Woodington and Lois Harnden are employed by Virginia Osborn and Carmelita Dew, the psychiatrists?"

"No, I hadn't heard. Here comes our bus now. We'll see you tonight, girls."

Later, on the bus:

"Come on Donna, here's where we get off."

"That's right, Marion. By the way, isn't that bus driver Margaret Piotrowski?"

"I believe it is. I didn't recognize her at first." Hurry

Donna, I must get to that garage to get my car. Goodbye, Bonnie. See you tonight."

At the garage:

"Francis Beebe, Terry Paquette and Ted Kochan have been working on my car since yesterday so it should be ready. I want to make the three o'clock show since it's Abbott and Costello's last picture. They are retiring and have willed some more stale jokes to the new comedians, Tom Ingold and John Fick. Here comes Gerry Schneider with my car now. How much will that be?"

"Seven-fifty, Miss Williams. Thank you."

In the car:

"Hop in, Donna — gosh these brakes still squeak. Look! there's the new Saginaw High School, but I hear that it isn't paid for yet. They have to wait until Jack Sheets wills his money to pay for it. Frances Maziarz and Ruth Leach are teachers there. June Kennedy and Nancy Losee are in charge of the physical education department. Coletta Slater is the building superintendent."

"I was talking to Carmen Short the other day who told me that Jeanette Swan, Betty Fehrenbach, Delores Brown, Donna Bonaminio, and herself are part of the nursing staff at the new St. Luke's Hospital, working under Richard Thompson, M.D., Chief of Staff."

"There's Mary Mellon! Do you want to pick her up? How about a lift, Mary?"

"Thanks, Marion. I am in a hurry to get back to the dress shop."

"Whose dress shop do you work in?"

"We call it the Starlight Dress Shoppe, because Pat Bester and Nancy Engel design the dresses; Kathleen McCully and Geraldine Grondzik make them; Pat Henderson and I model them while Jerome Finney sells them."

"Marion, I was going to Doris Trask's hot shop. You can let me off any convenient place."

"All right, Donna, where it is?"

"It's the place between Violet Delaney's Co-Co-Clock Cleaners and Marvin Kreh's algebra book repair shop."

"This must be it. I'll see you tonight, Donna."

Trask's hat shop:

"Alice Anderson, since when have you been working here?"

"Since January. May I help you, Donna?"

"I would like a small black hat. By the way, where's Doris?"

"Doris and Ronnie Stock, her secretary, are in the office listening to the Detroit Tigers beat the Boston Red Sox."

"Since when is Doris so interested in baseball?"

"Since Ray Sundeck became the coach of the Tigers with George Rogers as manager. They have a good team this year with Gerry Nolan, Earl Langhorne and Eugene Warriner playing. They tell me Harold Brown is another Hank Greenberg."

"How do you like this hat? Look, here come Jane Weil and Lorraine Tardiff."

"Hi! Where are you headed?"

"We're on our way to Gwen Schulz's dancing school."

"Where are you off to now, Donna?"

"I promised to meet Coreen Van Norman at the airport. She's returning from Hollywood. See you tonight, everybody."

At the airport:

"There's Coreen now. Hi there! Did you have a pleasant trip? Tell me, did you get to meet Lon McAllister?"

"Yes, Donna, I had a wonderful trip. Guess who was my pilot — Delores Giltrop, and Gloria Fischer was the airline hostess. You asked about Lon McAllister. My dream came true. I met him at a party and had one whole dance with him. It was simply heavenly."

"Well hop in and tell me all about it."

At the party:

"Isn't there a big turn out here tonight?"

"I'll say there is. It's been a nice program so far too, hasn't it?"

Lovely. Jim Vervoort makes a good announcer too, but I wish that he'd sing something besides "That's My Desire". It's getting rather stale.

"Excuse me, please. I know that I'm late, but have I missed much?"

"Well of all people, it's Carol Fischer and Lorraine Sak. No, you haven't missed too much of the program. Pat Bhirdo and Georgia Lee Tilden have just finished dancing and Jim Vervoort sang, but you haven't missed Jeanie and Sara with their tumbling."

"I hear that Jack Wiltse is going to sing too."

"There! the lights are going on. I guess that we can go see some of our old friends now."

"Oh my gosh! What happened to the lights? I bet the electricity was cut off".

"This is Jim Vervoort speaking again. Will everyone stay where they are, so no one gets hurt, until the lights go on? Is Jim Ludlum in the house? . . . . Jim will fix the lights, but he hasn't his tools. Can someone help us out? What did you say, Louis Bohstedt?"

"My partner, Ronald Braman, may have some tools in his car. We are in the tool making business, you know."

"All right, Louis, thanks. Is Ronald Braman here this evening?"

"Yes," called Ronnie from a table in the middle of the new auditorium, "I'll get them, just hold on a second."

"Ah, here he comes back with his tools. Will these be of any help to you, Jim?" . . . .

"At last the lights are on. Say, Norman, who are those girls over there? They look lonely."

"Gee, Dengler, I think that they're Barbara Rose, Dorothy Dengler and Leilah Gehrig who are still single, and — since Don Yancer, you and myself are bachelors, let's go and ask them for the next dance."

"What's everyone so quiet for? Oh, I see now. Here comes Waldemar Dulski, the big radio executive, followed by his private secretary, Margaret Sparck, and his stenographer, Kay Lutenske."

"Who are those people sitting at that table over there? They look like bums."

"They really are. That's the Number One Chapter of the National Bum Association with Jerry Sawatzke as president. Look! there's Don Hausman, Curt McGill, Joe Cawley, Donna Post, Chet and Leo DeLavern with him."

"Doesn't Jack Tilot belong too?"

"No, he's over in the corner by himself. He's a hermit."

"Listen! they're announcing something. What was it?"

"Jim just told us that Bob Wasco had finally won the tiddledewinks championship since he hasn't much competition."

"Someone's missing, I feel sure. Who could it be?"

"It's Dick Baade. He had to stay home since he went into the "Baby Sitting Business."

"Let's go help him. I hate to leave this swell party, but business before pleasure, you know. 'Bye, Everybody."

CLASS WILL

We, the class of 1948, realizing that some of the best qualities, personalities and characteristics belong to us, do therefore, bequeath the following:

Don Prueter leaves his quick temper to Wayne Webster.

Jim Vervoort wills his sports ability to Eugene Galinski.

To Gene Boettcher, Don Dengler leaves his "Butch" haircut.

Nancy Engel leaves her supply of peroxide to Irene Sawatzke.

To Don Crampton, Eugene Warriner wills his great height.

Joe Sikora leaves his red hair to Ralph Flathau.

To Sally Goodrich, Kathleen McCully leaves her flute playing ability.

Harold Brown leaves his typing ability to future Webber typists.

Bonnie Esler wills her style of long skirts to Marjorie Dew.

To all gum chewers, Jack Fischer leaves his supply of gum.

Tom Ingold leaves his mischievous ways to future Webberites who can't stay out of trouble.

Doris Trask, Pat Bhirdo, Ray Sundeck and Chet DeLavern leave their king and queen titles to those who desire royalty.

Ardis and Phyllis Boese leave what all twins have in common to Jean and Jeanette Baker.

To Mac, the 9A's leave their best wishes for a much more successful basketball season.

To Virginia Bean, Nancy Remer leaves her singing ability.

Norman Fjerstad leaves his "Toni Permanent Wave Kit" to Jim Bukaweski.

Marilyn Scully and Marilyn Johnson leave their record of seventh hours to future "bad little girls".
